

WELCOME TO ACTORS THEATRE OF LOUISVILLE'S PAMELA BROWN AUDITORIUM!

In preparation for your visit, we would like to guide you through our theatre. If you will be traveling to the performance by car, you'll want to start from the Actors Theatre parking garage.

▼ = Elevator

Your trip to the theatre begins with a ride up the parking garage! There are two ways to enter the parking garage in your vehicle: both are pictured below.

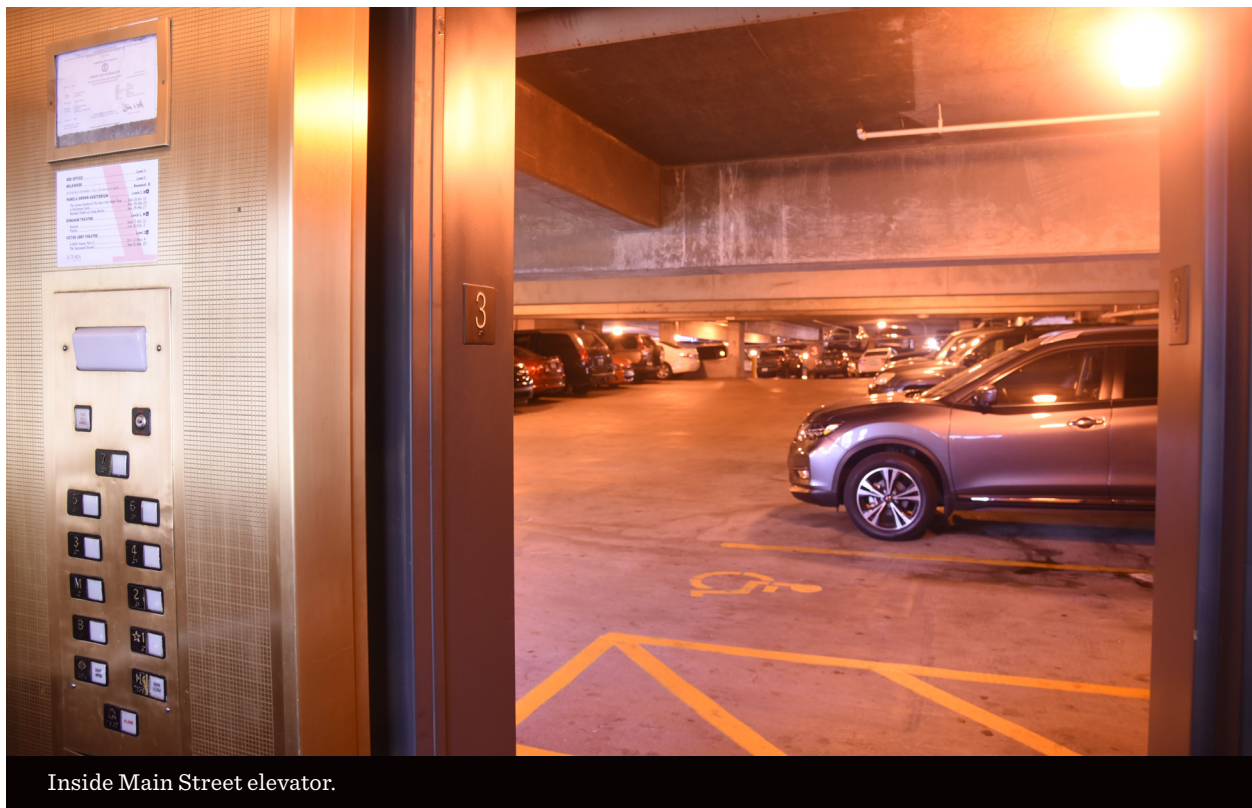

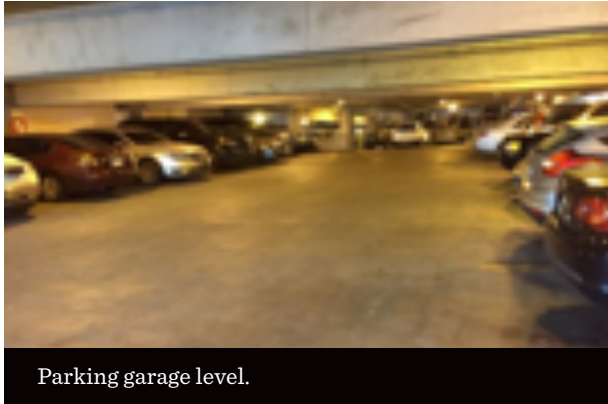

Third Street entrance.

Main Street entrance.

The parking garage has two exits available. There are stairs and elevators on the side facing Third Street and the side facing Main Street. The Main Street elevators will take you directly into the theatre complex.

When you enter the elevator, you'll want to press the button for Level 1.** This will take you to the Actors Theatre Box Office and the entrance to our theatre building on Main Street! Patron Services Associates will be available at the glass window if you need to pick up your tickets for the show.

**For more information about accessible seating and the Mezzanine please see pages 7, 8 and 9.

Box Office.

Turn right out of the elevator, and you'll enter the Frazier Lobby. Please be aware that this lobby floor has a slight incline!

Frazier lobby.

Yum! lobby.

On your way to the Pamela Brown Auditorium, you'll pass through the Frazier Lobby and arrive in the YUM! Lobby.

The YUM! Lobby holds Coat Check. Feel free to visit before your performance begins! You can get assistive listening devices and booster seats at Coat Check.

Past Coat Check are the men's and women's restrooms. There are plenty of stalls in each, including some large enough for you and a companion. Sometimes there is a line to use the restroom, but you never have to wait too long. There are lockable family restrooms located on Level B right across from the elevators. If you need help finding these, ask someone with an Actors Theatre nametag to help you.

Before you arrive in the Pamela Brown Auditorium, you'll reach the Sara Shallenberger Brown Lobby, up the stairs from the restroom. This part of Actors Theatre used to be a bank and is one of the oldest buildings in Louisville. Make sure you look up to see the beautiful ceiling!

Inside the SSB Lobby.

SSB Lobby ceiling.

At the end of the Sara Shallenberger Brown Lobby are the doors that will take you into the Auditorium.

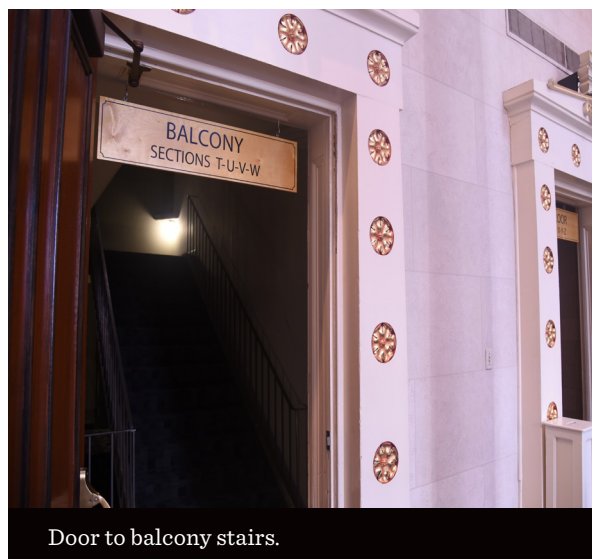

SSB Lobby and Entrance.

If your seats are in Sections X, Y or Z, enter through the doors for the main floor.

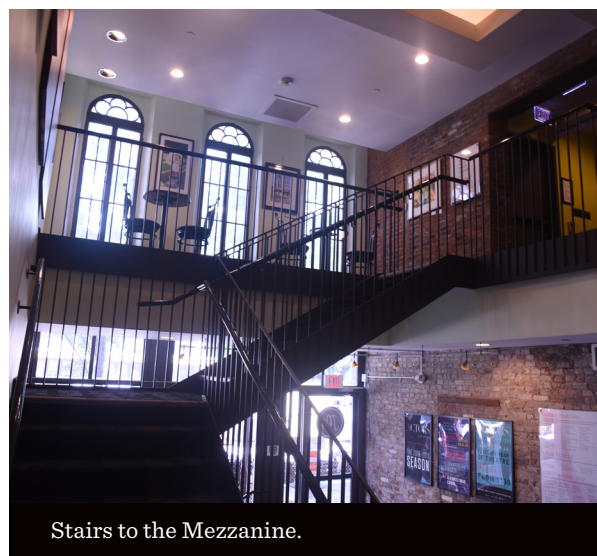

Door to the main floor of the auditorium.

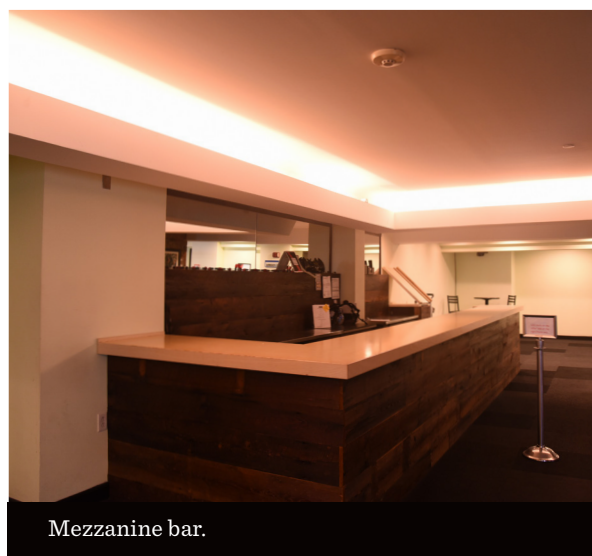

Door to balcony stairs.

If your seats are in Sections T, U, V or W, follow the signs to the Balcony. There are entrances in the Sara Shallenberger Brown Lobby and on the Mezzanine Level.

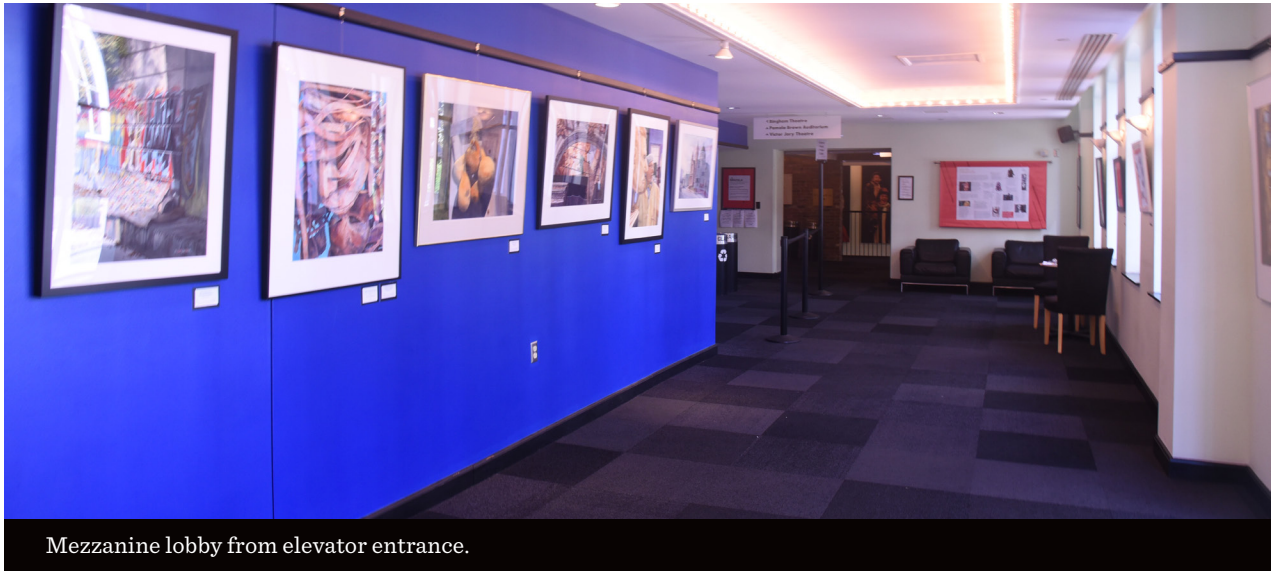

Stairs to the Mezzanine.

Mezzanine bar.

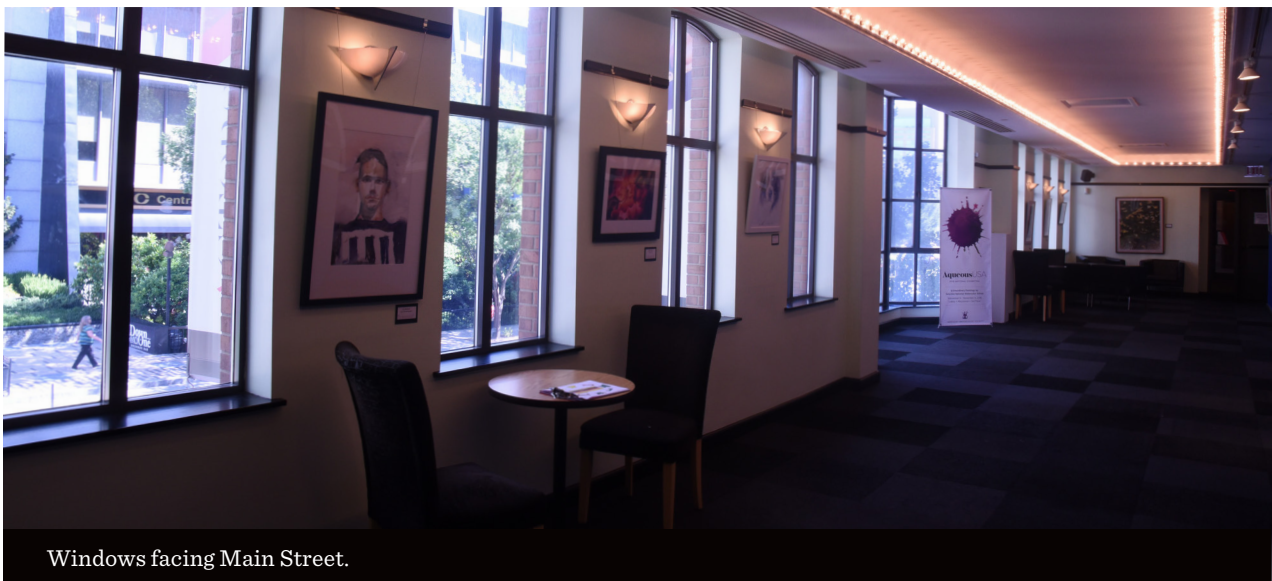

You can reach the Mezzanine Level from the stairs in the YUM! Lobby. The first thing you'll see is the Mezzanine bar, where you and your family may purchase beverages.

If you need to avoid climbing the stairs, you may take the elevator directly to the Mezzanine Level by pressing the “M” button.

Mezzanine lobby from elevator entrance.

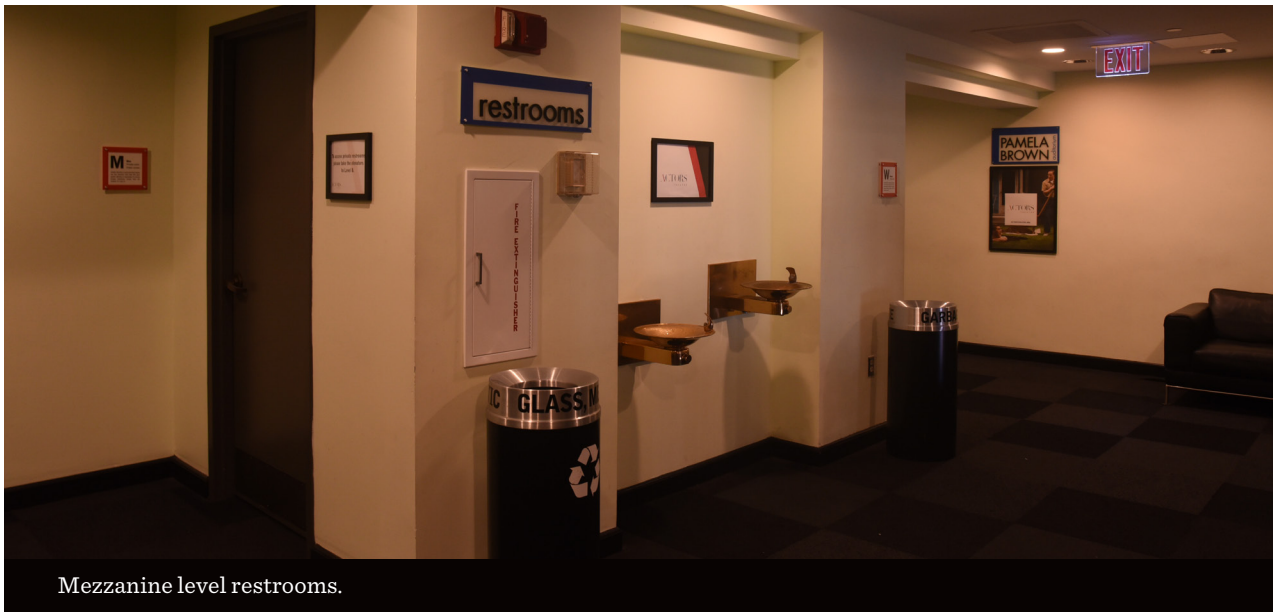

If you enter the Mezzanine Level from the elevator, take a right out of the elevator bay. This will lead you to our Mezzanine Lobby. You can get a beautiful view of Main Street! There will be art on the walls that you can look at before entering the Auditorium.

Windows facing Main Street.

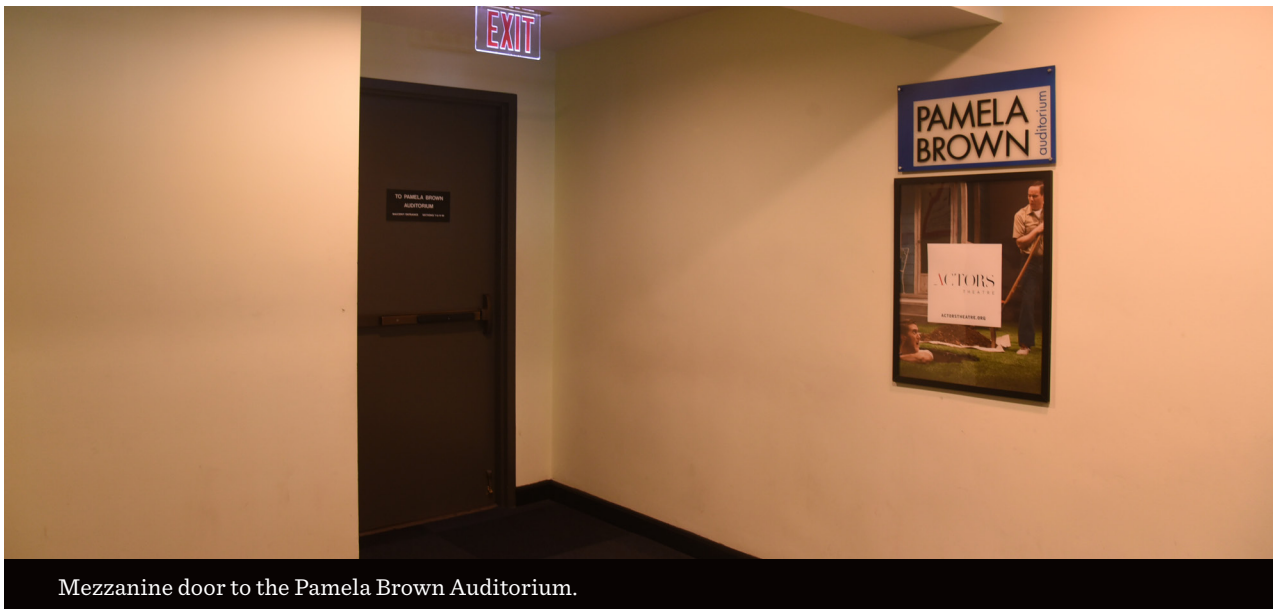

Past the bar on the Mezzanine Level, you'll find more restrooms.

Mezzanine level restrooms.

To the left of the bathrooms is the Mezzanine entrance to the Pamela Brown Auditorium! An usher will be there to show you which direction to go to find your seats. You can get to balcony level seats from either the Sarah Shallenberger Brown Lobby or the Mezzanine Level entrance, so the choice is yours!

Mezzanine door to the Pamela Brown Auditorium.

You have now reached the Pamela Brown Auditorium!

The Pamela Brown Auditorium from the top level of seats.

The Pamela Brown seating area from the stage.

If you need to exit the theatre during the show, that's perfectly fine! If you do so, simply leave through the nearest available exit.

We hope you enjoy your performance at Actors Theatre of Louisville!